9 Plaintiff,

10 v.

11 TITAN CONSTRUCTION CORP.,

12 Defendant.

No. C05-1240 MJP

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S
MOTION TO STRIKE JOINDER IN JURY DEMAND

14 This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff's motion to strike joinder in jury demand filed
15 by Defendant Titan Construction Corp. ("Titan"). (Dkt. Nos. 93 & 95.) After reviewing the motion,
16 Titan's response (Dkt. Nos. 94 & 131), supplemental briefing by both parties (Dkt. Nos. 136 & 137),
17 and the balance of the record, the Court DENIES the motion for the reasons set forth below.

18 Background

19 Plaintiff originally brought this action against a number of co-defendants, including Titan and 20 United National Casualty Insurance Co. ("United National"). Titan accepted service of the Summons
21 and Complaint on August 8, 2005 (Dkt. No. 9) and filed its answer on October 4, 2005 (Dkt. No. 19).
22 Titan's answer did not include a jury demand. (See Dkt. No. 19.)

23 In their Joint Status Report filed on October 26, 2003, the parties represented that they 24 "reserve[d] the right to request a jury trial" even though no jury demand had been made at the time.
25 (Dkt. No. 23 at 3.) A week later, the Court docketed the case for a jury trial. (Dkt. No. 26.)

1 Defendant United National accepted service of the Summons and Complaint on July 26, 2005
2 (Dkt. No. 4), but did not file its answer until April 11, 2006 (Dkt. No. 47). United National's answer
3 included a jury demand. (See Dkt. No. 47.) In the eight months before United National filed its 4 answer, Plaintiff never moved for default against United National nor did Plaintiff move to strike
5 United National's late-filed answer.

6 After United National was dismissed from the action, Titan filed a notice of joinder in United
7 National's jury demand. (Dkt. No. 92.) Plaintiff then filed objections and a motion to strike Titan's
8 joinder in United National's jury demand. (Dkt. Nos. 93 & 95.) This motion is now before the 9 Court.¹

10 Analysis

11 A party waives its right to a jury trial unless its demand is properly served and filed "no later
12 than ten days after the last pleading directed to the issue is served." Fed. R. Civ. P. 38. The Ninth 13 Circuit has interpreted Rule 38 as "incorporating a right of reasonable reliance on the jury demand of 14 another party." Cal. Scents v. Surco Prods., 406 F.3d 1102, 1106 (9th Cir. 2005) (internal quotation 15 marks and citation omitted). "[O]nce one party files such a demand other parties are entitled to rely 16 on that demand for the issues it covers, and need not file their own demands." Fuller v. City of 17 Oakland, 47 F.3d 1522, 1531 (9th Cir. 1995).

18 The caselaw interpreting Rule 38 primarily involves situations where a party's initial jury
19 demand eliminates the necessity for other parties to make subsequent jury demands. Id.; see also 20 Calinetics Corp. v. Volkswagen of America, Inc., 532 F.2d 674, 690 (9th Cir. 1976). However, the 21 reverse could also apply – the Ninth Circuit has not indicated that a party who failed to make an 22 initial jury demand cannot rely on a later demand. Instead, Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(d) makes clear that,
23 once a proper jury demand is made, it cannot be withdrawn without the consent of all parties.

24
25 ¹The motion was stricken on September 21, 2006 pending the Court's order on the parties' motions for summary judgment (Dkt. No. 96) and was reopened on September 12, 2008 when the case was remanded from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

1 Because Plaintiff made no objection to United National's late-filed answer, the jury demand
2 contained in that answer is valid and cannot be withdrawn without Titan's consent. United
3 National's dismissal from the action does not affect the properly made jury demand, and Plaintiff's
4 motion must be DENIED.²
